Cedarville University provides graduate-level coursework at ACSI conventions or similar Christian school association conferences as a service to ACSI and the professional educators who comprise this organization. Permission to take a course offered at a convention or conference does not constitute admission to Cedarville University as a graduate or degree-seeking student. Credits earned at conventions or conferences (maximum of 11 credits) can be used toward graduate degree requirements at Cedarville provided that the student satisfies the requirements for admission.

Cedarville University is a Christ-centered learning community equipping students for lifelong leadership and service through an education marked by excellence and grounded in biblical truth. Therefore, Cedarville University is pleased to offer graduate classes to students who have a faith relationship with Christ and are trusting in Him for their salvation (Romans 10:9–10).

Does the information above accurately reflect your faith relationship with Jesus Christ? Yes No

If no, you are not eligible to take class(es) for graduate credit. However, you are welcome to take classes for continuing education credit (CEUs). If you have questions, please speak with the instructor or contact graduate admissions at the number listed at the bottom of the page.

I indicate by my signature that the information I have provided in this application is complete and accurate and that I grant permission for Cedarville University to verify this information independently where appropriate.
