Welcome

I graduated from Cedarville College 36 years ago, and I just finished my 35th year as a staff member. But several years ago, I was looking at Cedarville University differently than I ever had before – as a PARENT! My oldest daughter graduated with Cedarville’s class of 2020, my middle daughter graduated in 2022, and my youngest daughter is a current student. As an alumnus, staff member, and now a parent, I could not be more excited about where Cedarville is today and where we are headed.

The transition to being the parent of a Cedarville student brought some unique insights during our oldest daughter’s first year, though. One of those was our desire for more communication! While we live only a mile from campus, we seldom saw Kylie (she was a crazy busy college student, right?), and when she did call home, the kind of information she shared was not necessarily what was happening on campus, or who was speaking in chapel, or what programs we might be interested in hearing about. It was about HER. I realized that parents needed a better way to be engaged with Cedarville and what is happening on campus. It is my hope that Parent Connect, prepared especially for parents of current Cedarville students, does just that!

My goal is to send you information at least twice a month that can help you navigate your student’s college experience – like school break times, when the semester ends, when your student has to be out of the residence hall, and how to access the livestream of chapel. If you are not getting Parent Connect notifications, subscribe at cedarville.edu/parents.

As Director of Development, I recognize that parents are one of our most important strategic relationships. I look forward to hearing from you – let me know the kinds of things you want to hear about. How would you like to become more connected with Cedarville as a parent?

We will be praying for you as you start this new journey with your student. Please reach out at parents@cedarville.edu if I can be of help.

Communication Policy

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) sets out requirements that govern the access to and release of educational records, and the right of students to inspect and review their records. In addition, FERPA provides guidelines for the correction of inaccurate or misleading data. In accordance with the regulations of FERPA, Cedarville University has adopted the following policy:

No personally identifiable information should be released without written authorization from the student each time that the information is needed. Written authorization should consist of the date, the person receiving the information, what records are to be released, and the student's signature.

For students who have declared privacy, no information, including directory information, may be released to anyone outside of the University or without an educational need for the information.

Waiver of Privacy

In some cases, students may wish to waive their FERPA rights and permit University personnel to discuss their educational records with their parents. In such cases, the student must provide the Office of the Registrar with written authorization, which includes the student's signature and grants the release of his or her educational records to specific individuals for specific purposes within limited periods of time.

Details concerning the process for waiving privacy can be obtained from the Office of the Registrar, upon request. Contact the Office of the Registrar at registrar@cedarville.edu.

Parental Access

The MyCU portal (MyCU.cedarville.edu) offers a variety of online services that enable parents to access records related to their student. Encourage your son or daughter to authorize you for electronic access to his or her records. The authorization procedure may seem cumbersome, but it is in place to help Cedarville University stay in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Once your access is set up, you will be able to view your student's financial aid awards, business account transactions, grades, transcripts, even pay tuition. MyCU is an outstanding tool for information, accountability, and encouragement.

Visit: cedarville.edu/parent-access for more information.

Academic Program

Registrar's Office

The Office of the Registrar provides administrative support and services to prospective and enrolled students, alumni, faculty, and administrators of Cedarville University in the areas of records, registration, transfer, testing, graduation, and classroom management.

Academic Advising

Each student is assigned an academic counselor who offers advice concerning course scheduling. A student who has not declared a major will be assigned to a special advisor equipped to offer assistance in selecting a field of study. The student should consult with his or her advisor not only at registration, but also throughout the year if problems arise. A student with low grades in a major or minor field may be advised to select another field of study.

Academic Honors

A student who earns a grade point average of 3.50 or better will be graduated with honor; one who earns a grade point average of 3.75 or better will be graduated with high honor; and one who earns a grade point average of 3.90 or better will be graduated with highest honor. A student must be in residence at least two full years (61 semester hours) to qualify for honors. Hours earned by examination (test-out) do not count as hours in residence toward graduation with honors.

Dean's List

The Dean's List is published at the end of each semester. Students are eligible for the Dean's list if they earn a 3.5 GPA for the semester and have at least 12 semester hours.

Grade Point Average (GPA)

To figure your GPA, take the specific letter grade you received in a class and multiply the corresponding number of grade points (see below) by the number of credit hours that class is worth to determine total grade points earned. Repeat this process for each class; then add all grade points earned and divide by the total number of credit hours attempted. The resulting number should equal your GPA.

A = 4.00	C = 2.00
A- = 3.70	C- = 1.70
B+ = 3.30	D+ = 1.30
B = 3.00	D = 1.00
B- = 2.70	D- = 0.70
C+ = 2.30	F = 0.00

Scholarships

Cedarville University is committed to making a high-quality, Christian education affordable and accessible. Along with competitive costs well below the national private college average, Cedarville provides a wide range of scholarship options to assist students and families.

Last year, nearly 100% of new freshmen received scholarships, with an average of more than $20,000 in scholarships and grants awarded. Students who completed the FAFSA also had access to federal student loans.

Academic Scholarships

Academic scholarships range from $11,000 to $22,000 per year and are renewable for all four years as long as the student meets the required GPA. These generous awards can be combined with need-based scholarships, academic program scholarships (music and pharmacy students, for example), athletic scholarships, and other

Donor-Funded Scholarships

These scholarships allow donors to meet individual student needs through annually funded or endowed named scholarships. You will find a listing of scholarships with a brief description of the scholarship's intent as well the required or preferred qualifications below.

To be considered for donor-funded scholarships, candidates must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the general application as well as any applications for specific scholarships.

- To complete a required scholarship application, you must first sign in with your CedarNet login you used to access the general application. Then complete your general profile and, if applicable, apply for specific scholarships.
- All Cedarville University students who meet the scholarship criteria and with a completed general application will be considered.
- The Executive Director of Financial Aid and/or a scholarship committee of Cedarville University faculty and staff select recipients.
- Unless noted as a one-time award, donor-funded scholarships may be renewed for subsequent years if the recipients continue to complete the general application and meet the criteria (however, renewal is not guaranteed).

The remaining percentage includes students who live locally and commute from home, juniors and seniors who receive special permission to live off campus, and students over the age of 25.

To view full layouts and amenities for each residence hall, visit:

Residence Hall Leadership

Leadership is provided to each residence hall by the residence hall staff that includes a full-time staff member who serves as a resident director (RD) and student resident assistants (RA). Off-Campus Housing

As a residential campus, most of our students enrolled in campus-based programs live on campus. Some upperclassmen wish to live in the local community. These students must be granted permission from the student life deans. Students who are living with their parents, married, enrolled part-time (six credit hours or less), or are at least 25 years old do not need permission to live off campus. Any student seeking permission to live off campus should complete an Off-campus application.

Because we value the University mission and our testimony in the community, each student who lives off campus is expected to live by the Cedarville Covenant and Community Lifestyle Guidelines. Any questions about living off campus should be directed to your respective dean, Dean of Men, or Dean of Women.

Chapel has long been considered the heartbeat of Cedarville's campus. Every weekday at 10 a.m., students, faculty, and staff come together for a time of dynamic worship and powerful preaching. Lives are transformed as we spur one another toward Christ. It's no wonder chapel is consistently rated as students' favorite part of their Cedarville experience.

Daily chapel demonstrates Cedarville's commitment to the study and practice of the Word of God. World-renowned guest speakers, along with our President and faculty members, will inspire you to follow Jesus with excellence.

Providing on-campus student jobs provides mutually beneficial opportunities for Cedarville University to fulfill its mission of equipping students for lifelong leadership and service.

Campus jobs, which are available in nearly every department on campus, allow students to earn an income that will help fund Cedarville's academically excellent, distinctly Christian education. In addition, University departments rely upon our students' excellent skills and services to accomplish the tasks that are assigned to them.

More than just an employment transaction, these campus jobs represent opportunities to train, resource, and mentor students, all part of Cedarville's commitment to biblical stewardship.

All forms and information regarding student employment can be found at cedarville.edu/studentjobs.

Work Eligibility

You are eligible to work on campus:

- If you are registered for six or more semester credit hours (undergraduate)
- After a written job offer is received and accepted
- After proper payroll documentation is submitted

Typically, students do not work more than 1,200 hours per year. You may work a maximum of 25 hours per week during the academic term. Most students work five to ten hours per week. Students generally work eight to 10 hours per week in the Federal Work Study program.

Federal Work Study

What is Federal Work Study?

Federal Work Study provides part-time jobs for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need, allowing students to earn money to pay for educational expenses. Financial need is determined by FAFSA calculation.

Are employment options other than federal work study jobs available on campus? Yes. Campus-based jobs are available to regular student workers. Students do not have to qualify for Federal Work Study to be employed as a student worker.

Detailed information about the Federal Work Study Program may be found on the Financial Aid office's Work Study website.

Study Abroad

Where will your Cedarville education take you? As part of your academic experience, we encourage you to consider a study abroad semester, immersing yourself in another country as you live and learn. Open to students in any major, study abroad programs strengthen your language and cross-cultural skills, broaden your thinking, and deepen your commitment to Christian service.

Cedarville's International Programs office will help you identify opportunities that fit your interests and goals, and then help you plan and implement your study abroad experience.

A list of all study abroad programs is available at:

cedarville.edu/studyabroad

How do I know if I have been approved by Cedarville to participate in Study Abroad?

Once you complete all the necessary paperwork, have been through an interview with Study Abroad, and have all forms turned into Study Abroad, you will receive notice as to whether or not you have been approved by Cedarville to participate in a program. Approval is based on the following criteria:

- A grade point average of 3.0 or above.
- You are not currently on conduct probation or subject to being placed on conduct probation.
- Acceptable faculty recommendations (one from your advisor and one from a faculty member who has had you in class).
- You have adequate financial aid to cover necessary expenses, and cover any previous balances on your account.

Completed and signed Study Abroad application and behavior contract.

Acceptance into individual programs is at the discretion of that program.

What will a typical week look like while I am studying abroad?

Depending on the program you attend, you will be expected to complete as much academic work (in terms of quantity) as you would on campus. However, you may also have long weekends to travel in the semester long programs. Take this advice from past students—make sure you are caught up on your academic work before you travel. This way you will not fall behind on work. Students typically study Monday through Friday morning, and travel on weekends.

Can my parents come visit me when I am participating in a study abroad?

Parents are welcome to visit the study abroad sites after the first month. Many programs have a scheduled break in the semester, which would be a good time for a visit. They can stay at nearby hotels or bed-and-breakfasts. Parents should be advised that you might not have much time to spend with them during other times in the semester.

Global Outreach

Global Outreach exists to prepare and organize the Cedarville University community to know, live, and share the Gospel. This is accomplished through locating opportunities and recruiting, equipping, and sending students, faculty, and staff to serve across the street or across the ocean.

Global Outreach at Cedarville equips you for lifelong leadership and service through partnerships with local churches, community organizations, and missions. These volunteer ministry opportunities provide a context where you'll apply what you learn in chapel and the classroom and make a powerful impact for Christ as you meet real needs in our surrounding communities and the world. You will have the opportunity to serve locally through weekly volunteer ministry teams or through short-term mission trips.

Local Church Ministry Teams

All Cedarville students are expected to maintain the spiritual discipline of attending weekly corporate worship at a local church. We also seek to encourage students to take the next step and get involved in serving at their local church. The local church ministry teams listed on this website provide you with the opportunity to serve local churches through Awana, children's ministries, nursery, Sunday school, youth, or worship ministries.

Community Outreach Teams

The communities surrounding Cedarville contain hospitals, detention centers, faith-based ministries, and many other types of organizations with volunteer needs which may be met by Cedarville students who desire to serve. The community outreach teams listed on this website provide you with the opportunity to serve in a variety of areas which may relate to your area of study, personal interests, talents, or experience.

Financial Aid

Last year, 100% of incoming freshmen received financial aid at Cedarville, typically a combination of merit-based and need-based university scholarships. Federal loans, on-campus employment, private education loans, and payment plans are designed to fill in the gap.

Most types of financial aid awards fall within two categories:

Gift aid refers to awards that do not have to be paid back, such as scholarships and grants. Self-help aid refers to awards that require something in return from the student in order to receive funds, such as loans and student employment.

- Loans: Must be repaid according to the terms and conditions of each loan.
- Employment: The student obtains a job, works their hours, and is then paid as part of student payroll for the hours worked. Their wages are deposited directly into their bank account.

Airport Shuttles

Cedarville University offers an airport shuttle to the Dayton International Airport prior to major holidays and breaks. Students can register online for the service.

Frequently Asked Questions

- Why does Cedarville University only provide transportation to and from the Dayton International Airport?

The Dayton International Airport is only 33 miles from campus while the Columbus and Cincinnati airports are over 60 miles from campus. We choose to provide shuttles to the Dayton airport because it is too costly to service rides to the other airports.

- Who operates this service and why does it cost $25 each way?

Students who are members of the Campus Experience office operate the service (schedule the shuttles and drivers, manage the online registration system and answer all airport transportation questions). We charge $25 each way to cover the cost of vehicle rental ($.60 per mile) and labor cost for the shuttle drivers (minimum wage).

- Is there a deadline to register for the shuttle?

The deadline to register for shuttles is noon the day before the first shuttle departs for the designated break, however, there are a limited number of seats per shuttle. When the shuttle is full, it will no longer appear for purchase on the web page.

- Which breaks are transportation provided for?
