When a parent signs in to his or her own Cedarville University network (CedarNet) account and then clicks CedarInfo, the parent will have fewer CedarInfo options than a student will have. Even when a parent has been granted parent access to view student records, the viewable CedarInfo options are still more limited than the student’s would be.

There may be times when it would be helpful for the parent to know all of the CedarInfo options available to their student. The following screenshot will provide parents of current students with an example view of the complete set of options available to their student(s) through CedarInfo.
